OFO Head Appointed to New York State Prevention Board

Oneonta, NY – February 24, 2015

Daniel Maskin, Chief Executive Officer of Opportunities for Otsego, was recently appointed to the Prevent Child Abuse New York Board of Directors.

Prevent Child Abuse New York, a state chapter of Prevent Child Abuse America, is a leader in the movement to stop child abuse and neglect. The organization serves as a resource for parents and families, advocates for programs and policies that support families and prevent abuse, and fosters statewide networks of individuals and organizations committed to prevention. PCANY is also responsible for establishing the Healthy Families New York home visiting program.

Timothy Hathaway, Executive Director of Prevent Child Abuse New York commented on the appointment: “The Prevent Child Abuse New York Board of Directors would like to extend their most enthusiastic welcome to Dan Maskin. We are very pleased that he has agreed to join the work of the organization. His leadership in the field coupled with his experience with statewide organizations will be a grand compliment to the efforts of PCANY as we build strong families across New York.”

In addition to his work with OFO, Maskin has served as the Chief Executive Officer to the New York State Community Action Association. He is a member of the New York State Department of State Community Services Block Grant Advisory Council and the Oneonta Rotary Club.
